Motivational Spiritual Gifts

The Prophet (No. 1) and Mercy (No. 7) Gifts

"But we have gifts (charismata) that differ, and which are meant to be used according to the grace that has been given to us – if prophecy, in proportion to our faith; <sup>7</sup>if service, in our serving; or the one who teaches, in his teaching; <sup>8</sup>or the one who exhorts, in his exhortation; the one who gives, in generosity; the one who leads, with diligence; the one who shows mercy, with cheerfulness" (Ro. 12:6-8).

Rabbi Paul states that we have "gifts that differ and which are meant to be used." The list here is not earned, and you do not have to qualify to have one of them. God gives them according to His grace (His desire and His power for YOU to do His Will). They are not organized according to spirituality, that is, some gifts are NOT more spiritual than others. He has placed one of these gifts in every person that is born. The Ruach HaKodesh activates our spiritual gifts. Lord, activate these gifts in Kol Simcha today!

Romans 12 correctly translate the Greek word charismata into the word gift. What is THE LIST?

- Prophecy the declaration of truth (righteousness). A burning desire to tell the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth...
- Mercy to comfort of those in need, concerned about how others feel, deeply loyal...

As we start today's message, I want to motivate you with the following points for study and meditation:

- 1. Everyone is inherently motivated in one of these gifts. We must find it and move on it.
- 2. We can start using people immediately as Yeshua adds to the body, regardless of spiritual walk and maturity.
- 3. Finding and identifying our gift is liberating and fulfilling, and it gives others space.
- 4. We need to examine ourselves, experiment and exercise our gift.

Illustration of the Gifts

1. Prophet 2. Server 3. Teacher 5. Giver 4. Exhorter 6. Leader 7. Mercy

Characteristics of the gift of Prophecy

| GIFT                              | CHARACTERISTICS                            | MISUSES                                |
|-----------------------------------|--|--|
| Who in Scripture best             | 1. Need to express themselves              | 1. Exposing without restoring          |
| illustrates the motivational gift | Prophets need to express their             | A prophet's primary concern about      |
| of prophecy?                      | thoughts and ideas verbally,               | stopping the spread of evil tends to   |
| 1 1 5                             | especially when matters of right and       | cause him to expose a sinner rather    |
|                                   | wrong are involved. In the written         | than restore him. In so doing, the     |
|                                   | account of the Gospels, Peter spoke        | prophet will fail a test of            |
|                                   | more often than any other disciple.        | spirituality. (See Galatians 6:1.)     |
|                                   | He also became the spokesman for           | The prophet, however, believes         |
|                                   | the early Messianic Communities.           | that exposure of sin is the first step |
|                                   | (See Acts 2:14; 3:12; 4:8; 11:4.)          | of restoration.                        |
| Peter (Simon)                     | 2. Quick impressions of people             | 2. Jumping to conclusions              |
|                                   | Prophets tend to make quick                | Prophets tend to draw conclusions      |
|                                   | judgments on what they see and             | from a few known facts. Once a         |
|                                   | hear. They also tend to express their      | hasty conclusion has been made,        |
|                                   | views before others speak. In the          | prophets tend to look for confirm-     |
|                                   | Gospels, Peter spoke first more than       | ing evidence. This action can          |
|                                   | any other disciple. (See Matthew           | result in their taking words and       |
|                                   | 14:28; 15:15; 16:16; 16:33; 17:4;          | actions of the accused out of          |
|                                   | 19:27; John 6:38; 13:6.)                   | context so as to prove their point.    |
| Love without hypocrisy            | 3. Alertness to Dishonesty                 | 3. Reacting harshly to sinners  |
| (Romans 12:9)                     | Prophets have an amazing ability to        | When a prophet sees sin, he tends      |
|                                   | sense when someone or something is         | to denounce it so strongly that it     |
|                                   | not what it appears to be. They react      | appears to others as an "overkill."    |
|                                   | harshly to any form of deception or        | After exposing the sin, the prophet    |
|                                   | dishonesty. Peter must have sensed         | tends to expect immediate              |
|                                   | deception in Ananias and Sapphira          | repentance regardless of whether       |
|                                   | since he was prompted to question          | his rebuke was given in love or        |
|                                   | them about it. His condemnation            | was even fully accurate. His           |
|                                   | resulted in their deaths. (See Acts        | motive in magnifying sin is to         |
|                                   | 5:3-10.)                                   | promote repentance.                    |
| Recoil from what is evil   | 4. Desire for justice                      | 4. Being unforgiving                   |
| (Romans 12:9)                     | Prophets tend to cut off those who         | It is very difficult for a prophet to  |
|                                   | sin so that justice will be done, and      | make a separation between sin and      |
|                                   | others will be warned. Peter desired       | the sinner. Therefore, he tends to     |
|                                   | to cut off his offenders, and he asked     | reject them both with equal vigor.     |
|                                   | Yeshua how often he would have to   | Those who hear his harshness           |
|                                   | forgive them. (See Matt 18) A              | interpret his denunciations as         |
|                                   | prophet knows that a little chametz | angry tirades. Peter's epistles        |
|                                   | can leaven the whole lump                  | provide a balance of truth & love.     |
| Cling to what is good             | 5. Open about their own faults             | 5. Condemning themselves               |
| (Romans 12:9)                     | Prophets are as open about their own       | The harsh judgments which              |
|                                   | failures as they want others to be         | prophets have for others; they also    |
|                                   | about theirs. When Yeshua appeared         | have for themselves. They tend to      |
|                                   | to the disciples, Peter fell on his | be extremely self-critical and feel    |
|                                   | knees and said, "Depart from me;           | worthless when they fail. After        |
|                                   | for I am a sinful man, O Lord"             | Peter denied Yeshua, the heavenly      |
|                                   | (Luke 5:8).                                | messenger knew his need for extra      |
|                                   |  | reassurance and said, "Go tell         |
|                                   |  | his disciples and Peter" (Mk. 16:7)    |

| What basic Scriptural principle  | 6. Wholehearted involvement  | 6. Being impetuous   |
|----------------------------------|--|--|
| does the person with the gift of | Once prophets are committed to a   | Because of his tendency to make  |
| prophecy most need to            | cause, they are wholeheartedly   | quick decisions, a person with the   |
| exercise?                        | involved in it. Within the context of  | gift of prophecy can be very   |
|                                  | their commitment, they are quick to  | impulsive and can vacillate  |
|                                  | respond to situations and  | between extremes. At first Peter   |
|                                  | opportunities. When Peter  | refused to allow Yeshua to wash  |
|                                  | recognized Yeshua walking on the   | his feet; then he asked Yeshua to  |
|                                  | water, he asked Him to bid him to  | wash his whole body. (See John   |
|                                  | come. (See Matthew 14:28.)   | 13:6-10.)  |
| Having a Clear Conscience        | 7. Loyalty to truth vs. people   | 7. Cutting off people who fail   |
|                                  | Prophets are loyal to truth even if it   | Whenever prophets see or hear  |
|                                  | means cutting off relationships.   | something that is wrong, they feel   |
|                                  | When Yeshua asked the disciples if   | responsible to speak out against it.   |
|                                  | they were also going to leave Him,   | It does not occur to them to ask:  |
|                                  | Peter replied that he would stay   | "Whose responsibility is this? Do I  |
|                                  | because Yeshua had the words of  | have all the facts? Do I need to   |
|                                  | eternal life. (See John 6:67-69.)  | take action at this time?"   |
| Why is this true?                | 8. Willingness to suffer for   | 8. Lacking tactfulness in  |
| It allows the prophet to speak   | right  | rebuke   |
| the truth boldly with love (not  | Prophets are eager to suffer when it   | Prophets tend to be painfully  |
| hindered by hidden sin).         | comes to standing for the truth or   | direct when correcting others, no  |
|                                  | doing what is right. Peter rejoiced   | matter who they are. This  |
|                                  | that he was counted worthy to suffer   | bluntness can cause the prophet  |
|                                  | shame for Yeshua when he was   | embarrassment, as when Peter   |
|                                  | beaten for obeying G - d rather than   | rebuked Yeshua for telling the   |
|                                  | men. (See Acts 5:29-42.)   | disciples of His death. (See Mark  |
|                                  |  | 8:31-32.)  |
|                                  | 9. Persuasive In defining truth  | 9. Dwelling on the negative  |
|                                  | Prophets have a special ability to be  | Prophets tend to divide everything   |
|                                  | articulate in defining what is right   | into two classes — right or wrong  |
|                                  | and what is wrong. Great conviction  | or black and white. Once they  |
|                                  |  | -  |
|                                  |  |  |
|                                  |  |  |
|                                  | wicked hands have crucified and  | compelled to persuade others to  |
|                                  |  | agree with them.   |
|                                  | was brought to thousands on theDay of Shavuot when Peter pointedout, "You took Yeshua , and by | label a person or activity, thatjudgment tends to be fixed in theirminds, and they often feelcompelled to persuade others to |

Characteristics of the gift of Mercy

| GIFT  | CHARACTERISTICS   | MISUSES   |
|---|---|---|
| Who in Scripture best                                 | 1. Deeply loyal to friends  | 1. Taking up offences   |
| illustrates the motivational gift of Mercy?           | A person with the gift of mercy willdemonstrate loyalty to a friend byeven reacting harshly toward thosewho attack him. When the ApostleJohn watched the Samaritans rejectYeshua whom he loved, John wantedto call down fire from heaven toconsume them. (See Luke 9:54.)  | The tendency of one with the gift ofmercy is to take up an offence forsomeone who is being hurt byanother person, especially if the onebeing hurt is a friend. Beforecomfort is given, a prophet shouldcheck out what caused the hurt, andan exhorter should give steps forproperly responding to it.   |
| John  | 2. Need for deep friendshipsThe very nature of a person with the gift of mercy requires close friendships. These friend ships, however, must have mutual commitment which is often reaffirmed. John enjoyed such a friendship with Yeshua . He was not only closer to Yeshua than most of the other disciples, but he referred to himself as the "disciple whom Yeshua loved." (See Jo. 13:23; 19:26; 20:2; 21:7, 20) | 2. Becoming possessiveThe deep need for commitment in a close friendship can cause those with the gift of mercy to monopolize the time and attention of others. As he experiences disappointments in one friendship, the mercy tends to place greater demands on a new friendship.   |
| Rejoice with those who                                | 3. Empathize with hurting people   | 3. Tolerating evil   |
| rejoice(Romans 12:15)Weep with those who weep | The gift of mercy enables the onehaving it to sense which individualsare hurting and to share the pain withthem. Along with the pain, a mercysenses the full scope of emotions.John wrote his first epistle to give joy,fellowship, hope, and confidence andto cast out fear and torment. (See 1John 1:3-4; 3:2-3; 4:18; 5:13-14.)4. Decisions based on benefits   | If those with the gift of mercy donot have spiritual discernment as towhy people suffer, they may givesympathy and encouragement tothose who are suffering as a directresult of violating God's morallaws. The one with the gift of mercycan learn discernment by seeingpeople through the eyes of the otherspiritual gifts.4.Failing to be firm |
| (Romans 12:15)  | 4. Decisions based on benefitsThose with the gift of mercy find ithard to be firm because they do notwant to offend other people.Therefore, the mercy must see thatgreater hurt and offenses will occur ifhe fails to be decisive. When John wasfaced with denying Yeshua , hedemonstrated a boldness anddecisiveness which caused theSadducees to marvel. (See Acts 4:13.)                     | When a person with the gift ofmercy is given a position ofleadership, he will tend to avoiddisciplinary action which is needed.As a result, the person who shouldhave been disciplined is not broughtto repentance, prophets react to hisleadership, and other "mercies"react to the prophets.  |

|  | 5. Deeply sensitive to loved onesThe gift of mercy carries with it theability to sense genuine love. It,therefore, carries a greatervulnerability to deeper and morefrequent hurts from those who fail todemonstrate sincere love. John usedthe word "love" more than any otherdisciple in his Gospel and epistles.  | 5. Leaning on emotions vs reasonBecause those with the gift of mercyhave such sensitive feelings, theytend to base their decisions onemotions rather than on principles.Their subjective reasoning caneasily cause them to reject Biblicaldoctrines which seem harsh to them.  |
|--|---|---|
| What basic Scripturalprinciple does the personwith the gift of mercy mostneed to exercise? | 6. Attract people in distressOne with the gift of mercy has adeep understanding of people whoare going through mental oremotional distress. This sensitivitycauses those with hurts to be drawnto him and to confide in him. WhenYeshua died, he transferredresponsibility for his grieving motherto John.   | 6. Defrauding opposite sexA person of the opposite sex tendsto be drawn to one who has the giftof mercy. This attraction comesabout because of their ability to besensitive, understanding, and aresponsive listener. This factor mustbe considered in any relationshipwhich a "mercy" has with a personof the opposite sex. |
| Moral Freedom  | 7. Desire to remove hurtsWhereas an exhorter will try to helpa person find benefit from his hurts,the one with the gift of mercy willtry to remove the source of them.The message of John's first epistlewas for Believers to stop hurting andhating each other. (S1 John 3:11,15.)   | 7. Reacting to God's purposesUnlike exhorters, who look atsuffering as a means of receivingmore grace and growing spiritually,those with the gift of mercy tend toreact to the idea that God wouldallow a good person to suffer.Unless they maintain a properperspective, they can easily becomebitter toward God.                  |
| Why is this true?It protects the one with thegift of mercy from improperrelationships.     | 8. Gauge acceptance by closenessA person with the gift of mercy tendsto need physical closeness in order tobe reassured of acceptance. Thecloseness includes rich times offellowship. John sought out theclosest place to Yeshua at the LastSupper and leaned upon the Lord.His need for physical closeness mayalso have prompted his request to sitnext to Yeshua in glory. (See Mark10:35-37.) | 8. Falling to show deferenceWhen a person with the gift ofmercy demands physical closenessin a friendship, he may fail toconsider the desires of others whoneed that person's time andattention. For this reason, John wasgently reproved for his request to benext to Yeshua in His kingdom.                             |
|  | 9. Attracted to prophetsThe statement that opposites attractis certainly true with these gifts.Mercies are attracted to those withthe gift of prophecy. The firm truthof the prophet is thus balanced withthe gentle love of the mercy. Johnspent more time with Peter than withany other disciple. (See Luke 22:8;Acts 3:1-11; 4:13-19; 8:14.)  | 9. Cutting off insensitive peopleA person whose words and actionsreflect insensitivity to the feelings ofother people will be quicklyrecognized and reacted to by themercy. Rather than trying to helpthis insensitive person, the "mercy"will tend to close off his spirit andcut off fellowship with him.                      |